Family of the Pierced Hearts

We desire to form hearts to live a new way of life in which the power of love, virtue, and the values of the Gospel may triumph - hearts that are witnesses in the world of a new civilization of love and life. This mission requires that we reach, with the force of the love of the Pierced Hearts, all sectors of society. In this "going out into the deep," the family - religious sisters, priests, deacons, seminarians and lay faithful - together walks the path of love of our charism and apostolic mission. Thereby, we become witnesses to the power of love and fecundity of the Pierced Hearts and of the vitality and splendor of the Magisterium and treasures of the Church. In a particular way, our Family is called to be a living legacy of the magisterium of St. John Paul II.
